

LuxeEscapes

Four Seasons Resort Lānaʻi's new bath products feature nuts from Hawaii's state trees

Four Seasons Resort Lānaʻi at Manele Bay loves your skin. Or at least cares enough about it to come out with a new line of bath products featuring locally-sourced ingredients and beneficial vitamins. The new in-room amenity's key ingredient is the kukui nut, which is known for protecting skin from the earth's natural elements. It is also high in vitamins A, E and F. Called 'āina, meaning land that nourishes, the line features 89 ml bottles of after-sun cooling lotion, shampoo and conditioner, moisturizer, body wash and bars, an unscented glycerin face bar and bath salts. The line was produced exclusively for the resort by LATHER, creator of bath products made from unique, natural ingredients and pure essential oils.